By using the library's public Internet service, you are accepting the following terms and conditions:

1. Internet access is filter-free.
2. You must have your library card with you in order to register with library staff for a public-designated computer. You must respect any time limits stipulated for Internet usage.
3. Library staff do not control information accessed through the Internet and cannot be held responsible for its content.
4. The library is not responsible for any damages or loss of data you may experience while using public Internet access.
5. To protect personal information about patrons, the library takes measures to delete Internet browsing daily and retains computer sign-up information up to 30 days. Please be advised that your Internet activity may be traceable to you.
6. Responsibility for a child's use of the Internet rests solely with his or her parent or legal guardian.
7. The library is a public space. You must be considerate of the values of other library patrons and the presence of children in the library when displaying content that can reasonably be considered offensive (e.g. pornography). Inappropriate or intolerable conduct will be addressed according to NBPLS Policy 1059 – Patron Conduct.
8. The following conduct will not be tolerated and will be addressed according to NBPLS Policy 1059 – Patron Conduct:
  - a. making unauthorized copies of any data protected by copyright or digital property laws;
  - b. intentionally damaging library equipment or altering the setup of computers in use at the library;
  - c. creating, accessing, viewing, storing, sending or printing any content which is considered to be unlawful. The New Brunswick Public Library Service defines illegal material according to the Criminal Code of Canada, which includes, but is not limited to, material that contains obscenity, child pornography, incitation to hatred, or sedition;
